

Contractors – the Core of the Construction Industry

Below are the items Dana Blose will touch on with the two-hour presentation:

Risk Transfer	Typical claims	Trade Partner agreements
Certificates of Insurance	Avoiding OSHA fines	Establishing safety expectations
Vehicle concerns	Housekeeping	PPE
Fall protection	Scaffolding	Silica Control
Electrical concerns	Chemicals	Mobile equipment
Addressing unsafe behaviors

Dana Nathan Blose – Biography

Dana is the Loss Control Manager for Builder's Insurance Company. His primary duties include coordinating surveys completed by vendors, providing education to customers through classroom and webinar training and working in the field with customers.

Blose's formal education is Industrial Engineering. He is also a veteran of the US Air Force and the US Army. Blose started his loss control career in 1988 with USF&G in Birmingham, Alabama and through mergers he worked for the St. Paul and Travelers Insurance. He also worked for Fireman's Fund and Hanover Insurance. He has been with Builders Insurance Group for the last six years as their Loss Control Manager. Blose is an authorized OSHA outreach trainer for construction and general industry courses. Over his career he's worked as a specialist in; ergonomics, property protection, training, fleet, and products liability. He earned his ALCM in 1994.